The Hampton quartette, which is the best negro quartette in America.

the best negro quartette in America and is known from coust to coast for their sinsing of the plantation melo-dies or spirituals of the south, will furnish the music at this meeting of Hampton's friends and those who are interested in the training of Negroes and Indians for effective leadership in the trades, in school teaching, and in home making.

Damrosch has said, "unique and inimitable, and is the only music of this country, except that of the Indians, which can claim to be folk music. In it the Negroes pour out their joys and sorrows in noise, but wonderfully moving fashion; and in the face of such testimony of emotional and esthetical beauty, who dare deny them wider future possibilities in the great wider future possibilities in the great work of liberation of mind and soul, which is now going on?"

In addition to the singing two reels of attractive moving pictures will be shown, entitled "Cephas Returns," which shows Hampton's message carried by one of her graduates to the Sea Islands.

Men Who Made Good.

The second sermon in the series, "Men Who Made Good" will be de-livered at the Central Eaptist church tomorrow evening by the pastor, Dr. Joel B. Slocum. The topic will be "Moses—The Achievement of Educated Leadership." These sermons are practical and their application is directed towards the problems of our present day life.

Little Lady Elleen is an entirely new environment for Miss Clark. The scenes of this quaint little play are laid on the Emerald Isle, where she has an opportunity to introduce on the screen a new character, that of a typical little Irish lassie. Miss Clark has a notable cast in her support, including Maggie Hallowell Fisher, John L. Shine, Russell Bassett, Harry Lee and Vernon Steele. J. Searle Dawley directed the production and bis.

At the Spiritual Academy, Park directed the production and his cre-ative genius is given a free rein, the settings are exquisite and the story is so very unusual as to be fascinat-

The Great Secret is positively the greatest serial ever written and has greatest serial ever written and has the greatest co-star combination of the motion picture world, Francis Bushman and Beveriy Bayne. It is in fifteen chapters and has a plot that deals with situations regarding which amazing revelations recently have been made in real life—society black—mailing—crime in high financial circles—gangsters that do the bidding of men of brains and wealth. It deals with love—the love of a rich clubman for a poor girl—love born of a chance meeting and the adventures that followed that meeting.

The story is chock-full of thrilis, yet there is nothing tawry or improbable about the situations presented. The cast includes over six hun.

Our world with pathway all amiss.
Misshapen by the central strife
Between the lords of woe and bline.
Of dark and light, of death and life.
Help us, in these our latter days.
To search this darkness and its ways.

To find the pivot of the night;
And heal earth's guidance, rest in train,
That brings into a world of light
Death and the evils in its train,
In Thy deep wisdom let us trace
This lost star hidden from Thy face.

POETRY

TWENTIETH CENTURY PRATER Lo. Thou hast made Thy flaming suns
And set them circling free in space;
And Thou hast made those darker one;
Outcast forever from Thy face.
Those wandering stars with quenched spark,
Lost in the blackness of the dark.

O Maker of each undimmed sun In sole dominion o'er its spheres That in their rounded orbits run Sorenely through the perfect years Look down in pity on our world About two centers madly whirled.

Up from the primal fall Thou'st shown.
The way of life to mortal breath;
To man's estate through leaf and stone.
From change to change, we've fought
with death;
Grant, with Thy last great gift of
mind,
The prince of darkness we may bind
—M. S. Bubier, in New York Sun.

For she was young and gay, her man a merry scamp
Whose roving eye would seek a comfler sight
Than shapeless wifehood sitting still at home.
Life's many roads stretched out, from gold to gray.
They chose a pleasant avenue, with Youth and Laughter;
"Keep we these glad companions while we may!
Why dim with cares these first bright years?" they said.

Sad little voices asking her the way to go;

"O little wandering souls," she cries,
"God pity you!—I cannot tell!
I only know the road my feet have trod Leads downward to the Hell of Childless Ago,
To darkening years of utter leneliness,
and vain regret!"

—E. H. Wolff, in New York Times,
